ADVOCACY UPDATE

RED TAPE IMPACTS EVERYONE PENNSYLVANIA SENATOR DOUG MASTRIANO (R-33)

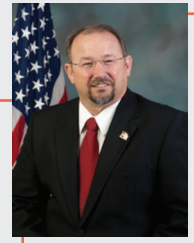

The state has 153,000 regulations in its books that inhibit growth and progress. Have you, or your business, been impacted by this bureaucratic red tape? I want to hear from you.

The committee that I chair, the Senate Intergovernmental Operations Committee, is tackling regulatory reform in an effort to reduce red tape. Small businesses throughout Adams, Franklin, Cumberland and York counties have repeatedly told me horror stories regarding their experiences with state regulations.

The current regulatory review process is complex, confusing and cumbersome. It is especially frustrating when unelected bureaucrats interpret laws in ways that were not envisioned by the legislature. We want to live our lives and run our businesses with as little government interference as possible, yet it seems like the Harrisburg bureaucracy has lost its way and forgotten who it works for – it works for us, the taxpayers.

It is time to streamline the state's 153,000 regulations and provide a welcome business climate. Pennsylvania needs to be open for business.

WOLF PRESENTS $36 BILLION BUDGET FOR 20-21 REPRESENTATIVE DAN MOUL

Gov. Tom Wolf kicked off the state budget process Feb. 4, when he delivered his annual budget address to a joint session of the General Assembly. The governor's budget proposes to spend $36 billion, up $2 billion over the budget passed last June, and would do so, in part, by raiding special funds. The governor also proposes to raid the Race Horse Development Fund, threatening an industry that supports 20,000 jobs across the Commonwealth, including those at Hanover Shoe Farms.

Fortunately, the governor's spending plan will be scrutinized during budget hearings in February and March with state departments, agencies and others who rely on state funding. The hearings, which may be viewed on www.pahousegop.com, will help us determine if proposed expenditures are justified and warranted.

As we move toward the June 30 budget deadline, you can be sure that I will be working to ensure your tax dollars are being spent appropriately. You can stay up to date on our progress by signing up for my weekly emails at RepMoul.com.

CHANGES IN HOW WE VOTE COMING IN 2020 REPRESENTATIVE TORREN ECKER

Voters will encounter several changes as they head to the polls for the primary election this year as part of a new law that brought about the greatest changes to how we vote in decades. In fact, one of the changes gives registered voters another option instead of standing in line at polling places.

Included in this law, voters can cast absentee ballots without an excuse, meaning that a voter can cast votes via a mail-in ballot. In the past, voters needed a legitimate excuse to obtain an absentee ballot. In addition, the voter registration deadline is moved to 15 days prior to an election, down from 30 days.

Another major change voters will see, or, rather, not see, is the option to vote straight party. While voters remain capable of voting solely for Republicans or Democrats, they will now be required to select each candidate individually.

This year, the Pennsylvania primary election will be held on April 28, 2020. So, read up on candidates and head to the polls to vote. Having won the 2018 primary by one vote, I know firsthand how each vote counts.

MEMBER SPOTLIGHT

BUCHART HORN, INC.

Brian Funkhouser, President & CEO

Tell us about your business.

2020 marks Buchart Horn's 75th year in business designing and shaping infrastructure for the future. Our history as a veteran-founded firm and one of the first consulting companies to combine engineering and architecture under one roof is a unique one. Our professional design services focus on three areas essential to every community: water resources, architecture, and transportation. Whether we're designing systems that provide safe drinking water, buildings where people live, work, and play, or a bridge or roadway, we're committed to developing practical solutions that strengthen communities.

Our people make the difference and are the driving force of our organization. Buchart Horn professionals are known for their integrity, values, and expertise in architectural design, site/civil, electrical, mechanical, structural, transportation, water, and wastewater engineering services. We cultivate a high-performance culture while understanding the importance of work/life balance. We try to build a welcoming and sustainable environment for our team so we can keep doing the same for our clients.

BIZ BUZZ

We take a broad approach to sustainability that encompasses social responsibility. We serve local communities not only through our engineering and architectural services, but also with volunteerism, outreach, and fundraising. We make genuine connections with our clients and neighbors, and volunteer over 5,000 hours annually to a range of initiatives, including cleanups and service projects, food drives, career fairs, and engaging the next generation of A/E professionals. We've also launched an energetic company-wide volunteer campaign called BH Cares as part of our 75th anniversary celebration.

What are your primary responsibilities?

As President and CEO, I manage the overall operations of Buchart Horn. I direct policy and operational activities, leading the company in providing high-quality, responsive engineering and architectural services to our clients. In my forty years at BH, I have had the opportunity to oversee hundreds of millions of dollars of engineering and architectural projects, but nothing motivates me to jump out of bed every morning like the opportunity to mentor our staff.

How do you stay engaged with trends you see in your industry?

Our team is active with many professional organizations, associations, and environmental groups within our key markets. We attend industry events and conferences, and educate ourselves on new trends and emerging policies. Our in-depth understanding of the issues facing our communities and clients helps our team develop the most effective, cutting-edge design solutions for educational institutions, public works, public safety, municipalities, and county, state, and water management agencies.

What makes Adams County such a great place to do business?

The best part of doing business in Adams County is the people. Buchart Horn has been building relationships in Gettysburg and Adams County for almost 50 years. We've completed over 1,000 successful projects for a range of municipal, education, environmental, and commercial clients. Since 1996, we have been the consulting engineer for the communities of Gettysburg, East Berlin, and Bonneauville. We have consulted on new and upgraded water and wastewater treatment facilities, as well as distribution and storage systems to ensure the Gettysburg Municipal Authority can provide enough quality water to support the county's growth plans. We have also worked to improve the quality of Marsh Creek. The community's challenges and goals have been our own, and their trust in our ability to tackle them has allowed us to accomplish some extraordinary things together. We appreciate every opportunity to partner with clients dedicated to improving their community's environmental health, water and wastewater infrastructure, schools, parks, roads, bridges, and airports.

GREEN COMMUTING EASIER THAN EVER

COMMUTER SERVICES OF PENNSYLVANIA

by Heather Klinefelter, Community Outreach Specialist

In 2018, the average daily commute for workers grew nearly 5 minutes to just shy of an hour roundtrip daily. Over the course of a year, that equals 225 hours on average per commuter lost driving instead of working, relaxing, or spending time with family and friends. In addition to the stress, the impact on our health and environment are significant.

Commute PA is a one-stop solution for transportation solutions for anyone living or working in Adams County. Commuters earn rewards for tracking green trips, can find carpool matching to find people living and working near you, use the Commute Calculator to see how much you can save, locate transit routes, find a vanpool, learn about walking, biking or telecommuting. Active participants recording weekly work trips are eligible for our emergency ride home reimbursement up to 6 times a year.

Commuters can go online or download the app and start tracking telework, transit, carpool, bicycle, walk or vanpool trips for work and pleasure to earn points for each trip. Points can be redeemed for discounts and coupons for dining, shopping, services, activities, and more. Commuters can also see statistics on how much money you saved, gallons of gas saved, calories burned, and emissions prevented by using an environmentally-friendly commute.

Commute PA is a program of Commuter Services of Pennsylvania, a non-profit serving those who live and work in our 13-county area. Funded by federal Congestion Mitigation & Air Quality funds our free services, we work to reduce traffic congestion by helping commuters find alternatives to driving alone and working with employers to help their workforce find solutions for parking, transportation, telework programs, and workforce retention. Using alternatives also helps improve air quality, and fewer cars in rush hour can mean safer highways, too.

Celebrate Earth Day all April long with Commute PA. Last April, participants saved nearly $245,000 and took over 420,000 miles off the roads. Download the Commute PA app, record your green trips, and start earning rewards & helping the planet today.

THE NEWEST MEMBER OF THE TEAM

Larissa Jacobsen is our new Program Coordinator. She will be responsible for planning and implementing Chamber programs including AC BizCon, Annual Meeting, Golf Outing, Gettysburg Wine & Music Festival, etc. In addition, she will coordinate marketing and communications initiatives such as social media posts, Adams County Business publication and weekly e-blasts.

A little more about Larissa:

Originally hailing from the Seattle area, I currently reside in Chambersburg, PA and have been a Pennsylvania resident for the past ten years. I completed my Bachelors at Shippensburg University with a dual major in Marketing and Management. I am coming to the Chamber from the commercial roofing industry as a previous marketing coordinator for a large commercial roofing manufacturer. Prior to that, I spent seven years in the behavioral health and wellness industry providing direct client services, program management, and as a regional marketing and communications coordinator. I have three kids, and in my free time I enjoy spending time with family, friends, and anything creative from baking to power tools. I'm ecstatic to be joining the team of talented individuals here at the Chamber and to begin my new role with programs, events and marketing.
