To meet the growing orthopaedic needs of the Gettysburg area, OSS Health welcomes Dr. James Klunk.

Newly joined OSS — Dr. James Klunk, orthopaedic spine surgeon, has joined OSS Health. Dr. Klunk is seeing patients in the OSS Health Gettysburg and Hanover offices beginning in August.

Dr. Eric Jackson, orthopaedic knee and hip surgeon, sees patients in the OSS Health Gettysburg and Hanover clinics as well. He is one of very few surgeons in Central PA trained in robotic assisted knee surgery.

To schedule an appointment with Dr. Klunk or Dr. Jackson, please call 717-848-4800.
Chartered in 1919, The Chamber of Gettysburg & Adams County is Adams County’s oldest and largest business organization. The chamber supports and strengthens its members and the Adams County area by promoting diverse economic opportunities through advocacy, building relationships, providing timely information and developing leaders for the future. Nearly 530 local businesses and organizations have made an investment in Adams County through membership.

Stock and Leader  Partner Brooke E.D. Say, Esquire has been named an honoree of the 2020 Central Penn Business Journal Women of Influence awards. Brooke was selected by judges for her leadership and achievements within Stock and Leader and the field of School and Special Education law and her contributions to the community. Brooke is the youngest and first female appointed as Chair of the Stock and Leader School Law practice group, a position she has held for the past five (5) years. In her specialty, Brooke leads efforts for school districts to more proactively meet their legal obligations in special education and advocates for strategic “relational” intelligence in managing conflict with parents of special education students. In 2014, the Central Penn Business Journal named Brooke one of Central Pennsylvania’s Forty Under 40 business people. In 2015, The Legal Intelligencer named her one of Pennsylvania’s Lawyers on the Fast Track. Ms. Say has been selected by her peers and Law and Politics magazine to the Pennsylvania Rising Star list for the last nine (9) consecutive years, an annual award bestowed to only 2.5% of all Pennsylvania attorneys considered in the selection process.

Glenn Bange of Hanover, Daniel Eisenhart of Newville, and Thomas Knaub of Wellsville, were each elected to new three-year terms on the Adams Electric Cooperative board of directors during an election process that ended during an Adams Electric Credentials and Election Committee teleconference meeting. Following the Credentials & Election Committee meeting, the board of directors held a reorganizational meeting during which Glenn Bange of Hanover was re-elected to serve as board president, Nadine Hubner of Felton was re-elected as board vice president, Dan Eisenhart of Newville was re-elected as board secretary, and Tom Knaub of Wellsville was re-elected board treasurer.

Attorney EmmaRose Boyle, a member of the Barley Snyder Food & Agribusiness Industry Group, has been named to the leadership team of an important Pennsylvania agricultural committee that will help shape and direct the future of the industrial hemp market. Boyle is part of a nine-person leadership team of the PA Industrial Hemp Steering Committee, which was formed through cooperation between the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and Team PA Foundation. In her law practice, she has been counseling clients in the booming hemp-growing industry to track and navigate its emerging laws and regulations, including compliance and risk management. She has written often about the hemp industry, and in 2019, she was a panelist at the Pennsylvania Hemp Summit.

Barley Snyder  attorney Reilly Noetzel has been named the recipient of the Pennsylvania Bar Association’s 2020 Real Property, Probate and Trust Law Section Trailblazer Award. The award is given each year to an attorney who demonstrates excellence in the practice of law and the highest ethical standards, has a commitment to pro bono legal services and practices primarily in real estate or probate and trust law. The recipient also must demonstrate professionalism through participation in the Pennsylvania Bar Association or similar professional activities. Noetzel is the first real estate attorney to receive the award.

Crouse Electric Co. LLC recently celebrated Dustin and Austin’s graduation from the Apprentice Training Program with Central Pennsylvania Chapter Independent Electrical Contractors. The program requires four years of classroom training and 8,000 hours of on-the-job-training to prepare candidates for the high-demand field. Both gentlemen are life-long friends from Fairfield. Congratulations!

Emily E. Berwager recently joined ACNB Bank in the position of First Vice President/Human Resources Manager. In this role, she is transitioning the oversight responsibility of all areas of the Bank’s human resources function in planning for the retirement of current Senior Vice President/Human Resources Manager Sandra A.Deaner in December 2020. ACNB Bank’s human resources team supports more than 400 staff members in southcentral Pennsylvania and central Maryland from their offices at the ACNB Corporation Operations Center.

THE CHAMBER
We are a family owned and operated business that was started 20 years ago. We are unique in that our entire job is to help you discover exactly what you want by listening and interacting. And then we make it or find it for you. We travel to Antwerp, Belgium to scope out the perfect diamond for our client. Our mission is to be York and Adams Counties premier jewelry/diamond destination. Whether you are looking for a new piece, a custom piece or you need a piece repaired, our goal is to accommodate all customer’s needs. We believe in working hard, doing right and using good judgement. We serve our customers as we would want to be treated - we care!

How do you stay engaged with trends in your industry?
We attend multiple jewelry shows each year that showcase the latest trends and styles. We are constantly creating our own custom pieces with unique stones from world renowned cutters by attending the Tucson Gem Show yearly.

What motivates you to jump out of bed every morning?
What motivates us is when you have a young man looking to purchase the perfect symbol of his love for his future bride and we get to be part of that process. While this is exciting for us, we thrive on finding the perfect gift for each and every customer for their special occasion and hope that it will become a family heirloom.

We have also renovated 208 Lincoln Way East in New Oxford to be our new location in 2020. There is too much to be done to stay in bed!

What business challenges keep you awake at night?
Brainstorming new ideas to keep our customers coming back to us and attracting new customers. Trying new promotions and wondering if we will get the results we’re looking for. And keeping up with social media is another challenge that keeps us awake at night.

Do you have any advice for new business owners?
Don’t let other people tell you what you are or are not capable of doing. Set your vision in your mind and pursue it. Be passionate about what you do, it makes all the difference in the world.

What leadership advice would you offer to other business and organization leaders?
Build solid relationships with your customers. Help those who help you! Impact your community through giving back or donating your time to an organization or charity of your liking.

What makes Adams County such a great place to do business?
Adams County is a small community where everyone knows each other. It feels more like a family.

When you are not working, where in Adams County do you like to spend your time?
We enjoy walking and touring the Battlefield, it is a great stress reliever knowing that history that took place right in our backyard. And visiting Adams County restaurants, of course.

At Scott & Co. Fine Jewelers, we believe in delivering reliable, complete, and superior service because we know your choices should be meaningful, memorable, and substantially momentous. This paramount concern is not only yours - it is ours also, and we will do everything possible to ensure that your desires are fulfilled.
The Chamber was part of a coalition of 80 chambers of commerce from across Pennsylvania that sent a letter to state and federal lawmakers last week urging support for safe harbor protections for employers as they operate in the COVID-19 pandemic era.

The letter stated that businesses are facing unprecedented financial challenges and as they gradually begin to reopen, are equally concerned with the threat of unwarranted lawsuits, including those alleging exposure to COVID-19 on a business's premises or through their activities or products. “Struggling businesses are vulnerable and likely targets to be sued and pressured to simply settle rather than engage in costly litigation that, successful or not, could be their final straw,” the coalition wrote. “For the foreseeable future, employers will be subject to strict workplace health requirements and those who take necessary precautions to protect customers and employees should proceed with confidence knowing they will not be targeted with frivolous, and potentially devastating, litigation.” Read more
Don’t be the next victim.
We recommend the following tips to help protect your business from fraudulent activity:

- If you get a fax e-mail/non-secure communication requesting a change to the account and/or routing number where you have traditionally sent funds to a party – confirm these instructions directly with the party through a secure method before sending funds.
  - Fraudsters frequently attempt to redirect all types of legitimate payments. They are sophisticated. Their communications will appear legitimate and non-suspicious.

- For payroll, ensure you have a controlled/secure process for employees to change account and/or routing numbers for Payroll Direct Deposits. Use a secure means to confirm any changes in case the fraudster compromised the employee’s HR logon credentials.

- Ensure you have controls in place to prevent your employees from acting on a fax/email/non-secure communication from an internal officer directing them to transmit funds without first validating that instruction with an authorized individual through a secure means.
  - Consider adopting two-factor authentication/other security to enhance internal controls.

- Before sending money to any account for the first time (new vendor, change to existing account, onetime payment, etc.), validate the account information through a secure means.

- Be suspicious of any request to transmit funds that stresses urgency, secrecy or the need to act without further confirmation. Question any request that seems unusual or unexpected.

- Communicate BEC risk to vendors, service providers, employees, etc. and establish secure means to communicate payment instructions.

Finally, follow best practices, such as:

- Educate employees against cyber dangers such as clicking on internet links, opening suspicious email, etc.

- Verify any account changes for an employee (payroll) or vendor (invoice) by reaching out directly to that employee or vendor using existing, previously known contact information.

- Confirm any payment instructions received via email or fax with the requestor by reaching out via another communication method, i.e.: separate email or phone call.

- Adopt a two-factor authentication or other added security for access to payments initiation.

- Avoid opening email attachments or clicking on internet links in suspicious emails.

- Be suspicious of requests that stress urgency, secrecy or the need to act without further confirmation.

If you suspect fraud please escalate to your M&T Bank Relationship Manager.
